

Call for Nominations

Albert Einstein World Award of Science and
José Vasconcelos World Award of Education
2016

Deadline: December 8, 2015

I cordially invite you to nominate candidates for the World Cultural Council's 2016 World Awards in Science and Education.

We are now accepting nominations for the Science and Education prizes for 2016. Nominees for the Albert Einstein World Award of Science should be eminent scientists whose achievements can serve as an inspiration for future generations. Considerations will be given to individuals or institutions in one of the Life Sciences such as Neuroscience, Earth Science, Biology, Biochemistry, Medicine, Paleoanthropology or Chemistry or in one of the Natural Sciences such as Physics, Mathematics or Astronomy.

A candidate for the José Vasconcelos World Award of Education should be a renowned educator, an authority in the field of teaching, or an individual who has promoted education policies. Through his/her work, the individual or team should have had a significant influence on the advancement of culture for mankind.

How to nominate or re-nominate

To put forward a nomination for the 2016 Awards, the nomination must be duly supported by the curriculum vitae of the candidate. If your institution has previously nominated a candidate for the Albert Einstein World Award of Science or the José Vasconcelos World Award of Education, I would like to cordially invite you to re-nominate your candidate(s) by sending us an updated re-nomination dossier.

The nomination requirements are detailed at:
<http://www.consejoculturalmundial.org/nominations/index.php>

Nominations and re-nominations are to be made in Word or PDF files, in English, by December 8, 2015. They should be sent to wcc@prodigy.net.mx and info@consejoculturalmundial.org.

The World Cultural Council (WCC) is an international organization based in Mexico. Members of the Council are eminent global scientists and personalities and include numerous Nobel laureates. The objectives of the WCC are to promote scholarship, art and culture and to foster fraternity among people, nations and governments, based on mutual respect for the ideology, religion, race, and gender.

One of the means of achieving these objectives is by granting the Albert Einstein World Award of Science, the José Vasconcelos World Award of Education and the Leonardo da Vinci World Award of Arts to outstanding individuals or organizations whose work has had a significant and positive impact on the cultural enrichment of mankind.

In rewarding outstanding individuals, the World Cultural Council pays tribute to their superior and remarkable achievements as well as their relentless persistence. Their hard-earned breakthroughs in the fields of knowledge, learning and creativity have rendered an invaluable service to mankind and improved the welfare of all of us who share this planet.

The WCC annually organizes an Award Ceremony at which these recognitions are conferred. Each ceremony is held in a different country with a renowned university or academic institute acting as host.

For more information on this year's awardees and previous ceremonies, please visit: <http://www.consejoculturalmundial.org>

We would be grateful if you could distribute this invitation to anyone you believe might be interested in proposing candidates.

Should you have any questions or require assistance, please do not hesitate to contact me: lilly.hernandez@consejoculturalmundial.org

I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours most sincerely,

Lily Hernández
Secretary General, WCC

